

The ancestral basement was very dark with grassy vines that descended to the ground! Dim light from the rusty metal lights on the ceiling shone down onto the ground; shadows formed onto the oak floor. Wind from the hurricane blew through every crack and hole in the ancient basement; vicious wind blew at the dust on the floor. Lewis felt scared, as the dim lights flickered and the wind blew. He stuffed his decrepit Great Grandad's keys into his back pocket, as he rushed to find a flashlight. As he turned it on, a bright light revealed all of the basement's exotic secrets...

"Wow!" Lewis gasped, "This is strange!". He expected there to be many useless, cardboard boxes and random, antique belonging- just like his old-fashioned basement at home. However, as he explored more, he saw that he was wrong, there were surprising ancestral things. His elderly Great Grandad's ancient, endless had many strange and unexpected stuff from decades ago...

Lewis was standing in the doorway looking at the most unexpected piles of belongings he has ever seen. There were diamond trophy's and gold trophy's too. When Lewis opened a box, he found lots of gold medals, a metal microwave and an iron axe. When Lewis opened the other box The ancestral basement was very dark with grassy vines that descended to the ground! A dim light from, he found a porcelain doll that looked like it had a Victorian dress. Then, he opened a diamond-encrusted jewellery box, inside he found crystal earrings. Then, he realized that he was gonna need a larger container.
